

U3A
E Newsletter
July 2011

Many of you will not be aware that Christopher Greenacre has resigned from the position of Venue Coordinator having decided that he wanted to move on to other activities. Christopher has been a huge presence with U3A and contributed enormously to the smooth running of the many areas he became involved in. He was a calm, happy presence and helpful in our lives. Many thanks Christopher for all you did for us. You will be missed.

2009 Pic of Christopher Greenacre assisting Ross Barber's Photography Class

Mid Winter School: This was a very successful week for U3A with over 500 attending very interesting presentations. These attendees were both members and non members some of whom joined U3A subsequently. The school also added around $3000.00 to our consolidated revenue.

Some of the attendees at the presentation from members of The UQ Brain Institute

Web Page: Our web site is at www.u3abrisbane.org.au. Do you ever visit this site? Our web master Susie Carleton keeps the site up to date and information on all our activities and classes can be found there. Pass the information on to your friends.

Open Day & Book Launch: This function will be held at U3A 97 Creek St Brisbane on Saturday 13th August 2011. What book is that? It is a book which contains stories and poems written by 31 members of U3A covering their individual experiences in various parts of the world during WW2. The Title is Jitterbugging at City Hall. The book will be launched by our Patron Sallyanne Atkinson AO who will also Open the new premises. Everyone is invited to come and meet the authors and maybe purchase a book which is priced at $19.99 and also to look through our new home. You can find out about the classes on offer and view other members work.

Morning Tea will be provided. It is a Saturday morning and a good time to come into the City and with no classes being held it will be a good time to look around and meet our Patron, some of the Management Committee and other members. Do bring your friends. Time 10:00am to 12:30pm

Social Activities: Many of you obtained tickets to the current musical, Dr Zhivago currently showing at QPAC. It was great. We will be obtaining 80 tickets for Mary Poppins which is commencing early in 2012 at a cost of $62.00. It will be, as usual, first in first served. We will have 2 different dates for you as soon as QPAC advises us. The bus is full for Noela's Garden at Donnybrook on September 5th; it should be a good outing.

97 Creek St:

The new signs on the front door at 97 Creek St. They look good with the new logo. Welcoming.

Join us for the Open Day on August 13th 10:30am bring your friends.

Helen Dubois

Editor

3398 9668

hellsbells21@optusnet.com.au

July 2011