New computer class at Creek Street in 4th term:

From Gwenn Ball—Computer Lab.

Come and enjoy 'hands on' learning of how to arrange your photos into one beautiful package. This Photobookclub software enables you to design your own Photobook. You can create unforgettable gifts, or holiday keepsakes of family memories that can be shared. It's also a lovely way to display your own many treasured memories. It's simple and the rewards will last a lifetime. Course starting Thursday 17th October—14th November for 5 weeks, 2:15pm-3:45pm. Cost $30.

Tutor: Wendy Allan

Maleny Bus Trip:

The bus trip to Maleny got off to a good start. The bus was on time and all those booked for the trip were there and ready to go. The traffic was reasonable and all that made a great start to a very pleasant day. The gardens were looking lovely and were well presented. There was a lot to see and the very hot day was a little challenging. The photo shows Bruce Errey admiring the water feature at the top.

The Gardens are worth a trip if you are up that way.

R: The view from the top of the gardens across to the Glass-house mountains

Bookings for the Christmas Lunch: Someone had a rush of blood to the brain and gave the Christmas Lunch another name “End of Year Lunch” in the class schedule. Be assured that it is the Christmas Lunch and you can continue to book. There is a booking form on page 4. Please remember to advise the office if you direct-debit your payment so that your name can be placed on the booking sheet.

Looking for a digital camera Tutor: Do you know of anyone who might be able and willing to run a digital camera class? There are 51 people on the waiting list so the person would have a willing group of students with back up if anyone dropped out. If you know of anyone, please advise Marilyn Wagland, Tutor Liaison officer,

U3A Walking Group: This is a recent photo of the very active walking group who had a few days down in Stanthorpe. They frequently go to interesting places for a few days. If you are interested in joining the walking group contact Kay Andersen.

What our Facebook page can do for you ...

Our Facebook page is open to the public and anyone can read it at any time without having to log in. To enter, all you need to do is click on the icon which appears on the top right-hand corner of our website pages and this will take you directly across to Facebook.

The better option is, if you are not already using it, to join Facebook and then click the Like icon on U3A Brisbane's page. By doing this, as every new entry is uploaded to our Facebook page, it will be sent across to you, thereby keeping you up to date with things as they happen.

If you are cautious about using Facebook, bear in mind that you have the option to set up your security on Facebook so your own page is absolutely confidential. In addition, the less information you provide about yourself, the safer you will be.
